JAMES W. FOSS, } Farmington.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT

Owing to the unanimous sentiment expressed at the annual town meeting in 1915, it was decided to expend nearly all of the highway appropriation outside of the compact part of the village, and this was done; then came a washout that left our roads very much worse than they were in the spring. Some of them were impassable and many in a very dangerous condition. We were compelled to put them in safe condition again, causing a larger outlay of money than we had expended in the first place, but we feel that we can say that our roads are in a pretty fair condition at the the present time, with few exceptions.

OPERA HOUSE

This building is sadly in need of repair in some places. The foundation has settled, causing a break in the brickwork; also the plastering is in very bad shape at the entrance to the main hall, caused by the settling of the balcony. Then, the boiler is worn out; one section of it is not used at the present time, so it may be seen that it is unsafe and very costly to get any heat in the main hall.

We believe there should be some inducement offered to the tax payers so that the town would have the use of the money earlier and thus avoid hiring money to defray running expenses. There was over $3,000 in taxes due the town on January 1st, 1916.

FERNALD PARK

Before building a fence next to the street it was found that it would be necessary either to level the Park from the street or build a bank wall, as there was no foundation for a fence, it being very sidling; so a fence was built in the rear, the old road removed and an entrance made at the junction of Central and Tappan Streets by filling in the deep gully that has been a nuisance for a long time.

By vote of the town the selectmen have redistricted the town in the following manner:
